Background

Shanelle's practice focuses on commercial and business litigation as well as employment law issues. Prior to joining Parsons Farnell & Grein, Shanelle worked as a judicial clerk for the Honorable Jerome E. LaBarre at the Multnomah County Circuit Court. While at the court, she gained significant experience working on business and employment matters, unlawful trade practice disputes, and attorney fees petitions.

In 2013 Shanelle was an adjunct professor at Lewis & Clark Law School where she administered the Regional Negotiation Competition.

During law school, Shanelle served as a judicial extern for the Honorable Michael W. Mosman at the U.S. District Court for the District of Oregon.
