Overview

Nicholas's practice focuses on commercial litigation. He has experience assisting clients with employment disputes, contract litigation, real estate issues, product liability, and construction defects. While in law school, Nicholas served as a judicial extern for the Honorable Lynn Nakamoto on the Oregon Supreme Court and as an Articles Editor for the Lewis & Clark Law Review. Prior to law school, Nicholas worked in intellectual property litigation support and business development.

Nicholas is originally from Portland, Oregon and is proud to serve its businesses and individuals as an advocate. In his free time, Nicholas enjoys spending time outside climbing, cycling, running, and gardening.
